Dear Friends,

In the first word of the Rule of Benedict, we are enjoined to listen—\textit{to listen with the ear of our heart, to grow to run in the way of God’s commands}. Jesus came to teach us the law of love.

What are the needs and concerns that surround us? What can we know of the hopes and dreams, sufferings and joy of people and of peoples in our world? How do we bring openness and compassion to our prayer and work? There is much that calls for our attention. How can we be responsibly aware and informed? How can we be at peace with our own limits? Along with prayer and work, we are called to be lifelong learners.

Benedictine vision teaches us to respect and care for humanity by enlarging our awareness and concern for our world, near and far. The face and message of Jesus may come to us in the visitor to our home or in those farther away. Spirituality calls us to be contemplative in a world of action (Thomas Merton), or “... you will either be a mystic (one who has experienced God for real) or nothing at all.” (Karl Rahner). Today the balance we are called to is balance of prayer and work \textit{and} lifelong learning.

In this present issue of \textit{Sacro Speco} you hear of the travels of two of our Sisters that bring back to us experience that connects us with the larger world and informs our sense of compassion and concern for that larger world.

Sincerely yours,

Judith Murphy, OSB

Letters From You

ST. SCHOLASTICA MEMORIES

Dear Editor,

I am one of your few readers probably who remembers the mother superiors you featured in your recent issue back to Mother Imelda.

My English teacher, Sister Cecilia, told me once how much she admired Mother Imelda for completely ridding herself of any vestige of an accent. Sister Cecilia was so adamant about the extent of Mother Imelda’s efforts that the story still pops into my brain eighty years later!

Bishop Mark Bartosic joined us to celebrate the Feast of St. Scholastica on Sunday, February 10th. Cardinal Cupich appointed Bishop Bartosic in July 2018; Bishops Bartosic, Robert Casey, and Ronald Hicks were consecrated in September 2018. Prior to his appointment, Bishop Bartosic served as Director of Kolbe House, the archdiocese’s jail ministry. We appreciate Bishop Bartosic commemorating our patroness on her feast day!

The Benedictine Oblates of St. Scholastica monastery hosted a presentation of Sr. Christine Schenk, CSJ’s original research into iconic motifs of female authority found in early Christian art and archaeology. Sharing findings from her book Crispina and Her Sisters: Women and Authority in Early Christianity, Sr. Chris delivered an engaging lecture utilizing an interactive PowerPoint presentation. Following her presentation, Sr. Chris met with guests and signed copies of her book in the Community Room. Special thanks to Sr. Chris and the Oblates for making this event possible.

In March, to honor National Catholic Sisters Week, Vocation Minister Sister Belinda Monahan, OSB organized a “Movie in a Box” event in the Community Room. She premiered “Missions of Hope,” a documentary about modern sisterhood that inspired important conversation amongst the Sisters and other guests. At the end of the month, Sister Pat Coughlin, OSB, hosted another one of her popular Dream Workshops. In late March, Sister Patricia Crowley, OSB traveled to London, England to attend the Monastic Muslim Dialogue: a week of dialogue between Muslims from Iran, Argentina, USA, and England and monastics from Belgium, Australia, England, USA, and Tanzania. Sister Patricia also delivered a talk (“Conversion in Monastic Life”) to the attendees.

Sister Victoria Marconi, OSB, Sister Mariella Hathorn, OSB, and Nurse Jeannie Silas embarked on a memorable road trip! The voyage marked Sister Victoria’s return to St. Joseph’s, her prior home for seventy years and the nation’s first Benedictine monastery. When Sister Victoria transferred her vows to St. Scholastica at the age of 91, she never knew whether she’d one day return to her beloved family and parishioners in St. Mary’s, PA. Joined by her lifelong friend, Sister Mariella, and Nurse Jeannie, the three women embarked on an unforgettable road trip. Read more about their adventures on our blog: www.osbchicago.org

Our Lent was a spiritual journey through the desert, much like Jesus’, and a welcome examination of our community history as we prepared for the Discernment Days and Election of Prioress April 25-29th. The community reelected Sister Judith Murphy, OSB to serve a second term as the 16th Prioress of St. Scholastica Monastery.

We celebrated the 11th World Labyrinth Day on May 4th as well as the 20th Anniversary of the building of the St. Scholastica Monastery Labyrinth. Regional Representative of the Labyrinth Society, Oblate Dan Raven shared the day with new and veteran Labyrinth walkers seeking peace. The closing ceremony was particularly picturesque. On Sunday of Memorial Day weekend, Social Justice Promoter Sister Benita Coffey, OSB served as liaison to the Chicago Police 24th District’s “Faith and Action” event held on the track field of the Acero-Cruz (formerly St. Scholastica) school. The “Faith and Action” event was marked with lit candles and a show of solidarity, faith, and support, all in an effort to end national and international violence against houses of worship.

On Pentecost Sunday, June 9th, the Installation of Prioress Sister Judith Murphy, OSB was held in the St. Scholastica Chapel. Later that week, we hosted the 25th Annual Testimonial Dinner and Awards at Park Ridge Country Club. The dinner included a presentation of the Spirit of St. Benedict award which this year recognized those in our extended community who work to resolve immigration issues. Honorees included: Fr. Corey Brost, CSV, Sister Benita Coffey, OSB, Sister Patricia, Crowley, OSB, Br. Michael Gosch, CSV, Rachel Heuman, Sister Mary Melady, OSB, and Oblate Kathlyn Smith Myers.

Sister Patricia Crowley, OSB, will relocate for one year to Namibia, Africa. There she will provide spiritual direction to the sisters in formation at the Tutzing Missionary Benedictine community beginning in August 2019.

During the Discernment Days we were facilitated by, Sister Mary Catherine Wenstrup, OSB (left) from St. Walburg Monastery. The President of the Federation of St. Scholastica Sister Lynn McKenzie, OSB from Sacred Heart Monastery (right) was also present to witness the reelection of Prioress Sister Judith Murphy, OSB (center).
Oblates News in Pueblo:

Peace Walks, Psalms Class, Easter collections, and more...

Our Oblates in Colorado have initiated a monthly Peace Walk along the River Walk in the heart of Pueblo, CO. This 30 minute single file Peace Walk, held the second Sunday of every month, encourages silent meditation and awareness of God’s presence. All are welcome and often people spontaneously join, walking in the name of peace. The growing group was inspired by the 2017 Silent Peace Walk in Chicago, led by Sister Benita Coffey, OSB. Oblate Phyllis King suggested the walk would be a good fit for the greater Pueblo community.

Sister Mary Susan Remsgar, OSB, the oblate liaison, hosted an inaugural dedicated Psalms class. Due to the great response, she will offer another Psalms class in the Fall 2019. The Oblates are grateful for her Benedictine presence and her study and insight, as a vowed religious woman, into The Rule of St. Benedict. Sister Mary Susan’s powerful perspectives regarding Benedictine Spirituality enhance the Colorado Oblate meetings.

During Lent, the Oblates collected clothes and other items for Sr. Nancy Crafton, SC and her ministry for migrant workers in the Pueblo area. Each interested Oblate was given a bag in which to add one item a day. This ’40-day bags’ initiative culminated in a collection of full bags the week after Easter.

Additionally, the Oblates have collected items on a monthly basis for an apartment building run by Posada, a group that serves the homeless.

The Colorado Oblates continue to grow. Currently, three women candidates are working towards their oblation. The formation team and teachers present them with the basic teaching of St. Benedict, instilling a sense of clarity and devotion.

In the diocese of Pueblo, Sister Agnes taught at St. Leander, Pueblo, CO. (1950-1952), St. Scholastica Academy Cañon City, CO. as part of the boarding school staff as a teacher and dormitory prefect and also directed joint music programs with SSA students and the glee club of Holy Cross Abbey School for boys (1956-1963).

She passed away on February 17, 2019. To read more about Sister Agnes’s dedicated life, visit our news blog at www.osbchicago.org/news and look for her story posted on February 20th.

Sister Agnes Kelly, OSB (1924-2019)

Born in Evanston, she attended St. Scholastica High School and entered the community as a postulant in 1942 and professed her final vows in 1947. She later earned a bachelor’s degree in Philosophy and a master’s in Education from DePaul University. She taught at the elementary and high school level in math, social studies and music. Sister Agnes also directed freshman chorus, the Glee Club, and taught private voice lessons. She served in Colorado and in Illinois.

In the Archdiocese of Chicago, Sister Agnes taught at Queen of All Saints (1944-1950), (1952-1956); St. Scholastica High School (1963-2012).

A pilgrimage is often defined as a journey of spiritual significance, typically to a shrine or shrines of importance to a person’s beliefs. Israel, a small country with a long border along the shore of the Mediterranean Sea, is a very well-known pilgrimage destination. Christians reverence this area and speak of it as “the Holy Land”. It is where Jesus lived. It is this location that the church, the community of Jesus’ followers, identifies as its place of origin. Here are its roots. Certainly, we acknowledge that Jews, Muslims, and Bahá’ís too have reason to claim this area as the place of their beginnings. Clearly, this is “holy” land for countless people of many and diverse faiths.

In January of this year, I became a Holy Land pilgrim along with 37 others. A pilgrimage for me was entirely unexpected but my good friends Barbara Logue and Noreen Ferrari offered the pilgrimage as a gift for my birthday (Barb was a year behind me at St. Scholastica High School, graduating in 1950. Noreen was Campus Minister and Athletic Director of SSA, from the mid-1980’s until 1990). It was a blessing. When I shared my good fortune and excitement with my friend Kathlyn Myers, one of our Benedictine Oblates, without much hesitation, she said she would go and be my roommate. Here was a second blessing.

My faith is strong and I embrace the Old Testament stories and gospel narratives in the New Testament as “good news”, all of them, news generated in the holy land. There is history, tradition, and literal truth. Jesus really did pass through these very towns. Though I felt great anticipation for the pilgrimage, on some level I was concerned. I did not want to waste any part of the experience struggling with “Is this really the place?” “How does anyone know?”

After a while something came to me which turned out to be the most important insight and grace that supported me throughout the pilgrimage: Our God, the abundantly loving, all powerful Source of all Being, is eternal. God exists beyond time. All is present to God. Yes, ALL IS PRESENT. There can be no past or future when there is no time! And in God, the Eternal One, there is no time. When Jesus, walked in that land and when I will walk as a pilgrim in that land, it will be NOW from God’s perspective.

In Exodus 3:14, God said to Moses I AM WHO AM. Eternity for God is NOW.

In God’s view, Jesus and I, a pilgrim, will both be walking in Nazareth and in Cana, both boating on the Sea of Galilee, and trudging to the mount where the beatitudes were spoken. Jesus and I, centuries apart in human time, are before God in the eternal NOW. So, If I could just remember that God sees Jesus and me together, and savor that reality at each stop, and endeavor to be with Jesus there, I would hopefully be open to receive the full rich experience of pilgrimage.

There is no way that I can share with you the countless details of my pilgrimage, but I offer some that still seem fresh. In addition to the religious sites, we also were taken to museums, Roman and Crusader archeological remains, spectacular amphitheaters, and Qumran where the Dead Sea Scrolls were found.

As pilgrims we were not only passive observers, but actively yet appropriately engaged at times. At Cana, where at a marriage feast Jesus’ first miracle was performed, the married couples on the pilgrimage renewed their wedding vows. On our boat ride on the Sea of Galilee we relaxed, sang and danced before disembarking at a seaside village to view an archaeological treasure: a boat that seems dated from Jesus’ time. At the River Jordan, Father Bala Showry, the pilgrimage leader and some of the pilgrims, donned white robes and one by one walked into the river where Father stood and enacted the baptism of each, immersing that individual. Pilgrims are still individuals, though. After walking along the river, downstream a ways, I sat, with just my feet in the water and remembered I was with Jesus right there.

On pilgrimage, an individual is sometimes in a huge area and at other times in a simple quiet place, but both are graced moments. The massive Church of the Holy Sepulchre in Jerusalem is built over the sites reverenced as the places of crucifixion and the burial site of Jesus. At the Wailing Wall built centuries before Jesus, Jews and Arabs along with Christians and any believers in intercessory prayer, place written petitions in the cracks. As I placed mine, behind me were hundreds of Hebrew women reciting the Old Testament psalms, the same verses we pray in English at the monastery each day. There I felt a deep sense of the Jewish roots of Christianity.

At other sites, we pilgrims were in quieter settings such as when we had Mass outdoors on the Mount where Jesus taught the Beatitudes. Another such stop was at Abu Gosh, outside the Benedictine Monastery of St. Mary’s of the Resurrection believed to be where Jesus appeared on the road that first Easter Sunday. My time in their garden brought me peace.

Toward the end of the pilgrimage, a lunch stop was simply on a street near old Jerusalem. We pilgrims ate standing, sharing good wholesome bread, delicious fresh fruit, and easy conversation. This remains for me as the most memorable meal.

This pilgrimage was indeed, “a journey of spiritual significance”. Every step of the way during those ten days was significant whether I was conscious of it or not. Somehow, I believe I will “be a pilgrim” always. Since my highlight was the insight and appreciation of the NOW, that word Now has taken on great significance for me. Often each day it comes to mind and somehow seems a quick prayer. I’m on the way. The rest of my life’s journey is a pilgrimage and I rejoice knowing I am expected at the destination.

“This pilgrimage was indeed, “a journey of spiritual significance”.”

Careers of Alumnae

The Rhythm of an Academic’s Life

Judith Knorst, Ph.D. attributes the teaching of the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago as “one of the best experiences of my life” inspiring her to study in Europe. After graduating from St. Scholastica High School in 1955, Dr. Knorst attended Northwestern University where she earned a Bachelor’s of Science in Music. Influenced by the languages of famous Italian, German, and French composers, she traveled to Italy and she studied opera for a year.

While working at the American Embassy in Rome, Dr. Knorst visited Monte Cassino, the monastery of St. Benedict. During this visit, a kind German Benedictine monk allowed her to play a beautiful pipe organ that survived the bombings of World War II.

After returning to the states, Dr. Knorst began teaching at Marillac High School, but deep down, she knew her true calling: higher education. A Master’s in Spanish from Loyola University was a natural next step given her affinity for language. At Loyola, she was awarded a fellowship at Northwestern to pursue a doctorate in modern languages. Armed with her doctorate, she taught in the College of Business at the University of Illinois in Chicago, serving her students as both a professor and academic advisor. At one point, she even pursued an MBA from UIC, but did not complete that degree program. Even in retirement, Dr. Knorst continued teaching language at local community colleges.

Dr. Knorst credits her SSA influences, including music teacher Sr. Beatrice, as the initial catalyst fueling her lifelong interests in music, European culture, and academia.
Clinical psychologist Dr. Gayle Porter grew up in Chicago’s Cabrini Green housing projects. Although she came from humble beginnings, she learned at an early age to strive for success. She had a wonderful role model in her mother who became one of the first African-American female Postal supervisors in the city of Chicago.

Additionally, Dr. Porter was influenced by the Benedictine Sisters starting with her teachers at St. Joseph’s Parish School. Because of her strong academic record and work ethic, Dr. Porter was invited to take a Robert Kennedy citywide aptitude test. Her exceptional performance on the exam resulted in a St. Scholastica High School scholarship (SSA Chicago Alumna ‘63). Dr. Porter has many fond memories of her time at SSA Chicago: deep friendships, nurturing learning environment, and close mentors, especially Sister Miriam Wilson, OSB.

After SSA, Dr. Porter received another scholarship to attend Loyola University. Although she lost her scholarship because she lost focus, the lessons of that disappointment served as the foundation for the many accomplishments she ultimately achieved. She eventually completed her undergraduate degree at Roosevelt University (Chicago), then studied at a joint program between the University of Illinois Chicago and the Illinois School of Professional Psychology where she fulfilled her dream and became a doctor of Clinical Psychology with a sub-specialty in Children and Family. Dr. Porter found her way to Washington D.C. first through an internship at Howard University and then through various career opportunities including: directing two outpatient mental health clinics for the Washington, DC Department of Health and Human Services; a faculty position in the Child and Adolescent Psychiatry department at Johns Hopkins University, and in her current role as Co-Director of the Gaston & Porter Health Improvement Inc. (GPHIC), a nonprofit she runs with Dr. Marilyn Gaston a physician and former Assistant Surgeon General. Drs. Gaston and Porter address women’s health issues, particularly those related to African American women. Their PrimeTime Sister Circles® is a free intervention support system designed to holistically impact lifestyle change and encourage self-improvement. The program serves middle-aged women, helping them develop more effective stress management techniques, improve nutrition, and reduce hypertension and sedentary behaviors. Dr. Porter continues to give back to the St. Scholastica community through her relationship with the Sisters. She was the 103rd Commencement Graduation Speaker in 1992.

Faith plays a deep role in Mary Ann DeSloover Collins’ life. Her time at St. Scholastica High School (SSA ‘71) laid the foundation for a life of service for this social justice-minded pioneer.

Mrs. Collins founded Heart to Heart Ministry, an organization that assists the elderly, and served as its director for over 30 years. An organization that began in 1986 as neighbors helping neighbors, continues to thrive today, serving the elderly of St. Gertrude Church and the Edgewater Community.

During a gerontology class at Northern Illinois University in DeKalb, Mrs. Collins discovered her lifelong passion: tending to the elderly. As a volunteer at St. Gertrude, Collins began an intergenerational program/ministry of assisting seniors with daily tasks: grocery shopping and providing transportation to doctor’s appointments and outings. As the demands for direct support grew, Mrs. Collins knew that earning an advanced degree in social work would help her better serve and expand the community.

With the support of Cardinal Joseph Bernardin, Mrs. Collins earned her Master’s Degree in Social Work from Loyola University Chicago in 2000. Over the years, Heart to Heart has grown from serving 30 people in the parish to serving over 100 people throughout the Edgewater community. Mrs. Collins credits most of the ministry’s success to the many volunteers who provide an average of 2000 hours of service annually, from grocery shopping to companion visits.

In 2003, Mayor Richard J. Daley awarded Mrs. Collins with the Neighborhoods Alive with Seniors Award which recognizes excellence in services provided to Chicago’s senior citizens. Now retired, Mrs. Collins cares for her aging parents. She also volunteers with Heart to Heart, returning to how she began her illustrious, impactful career.
I spent much of the month of May traveling. On May 1st, I flew to Zurich, Switzerland for a gathering of Pietre Vive, or Living Stones: an international communion of Christian youth communities which aims to announce Jesus Christ through the beauty of sacred and religious heritage. From Zurich, I flew to Yerevan, Armenia, where I spent nearly two weeks, coding animal bones for Project ArAGATS, with which I have been working since before I entered the community.

I became involved in Pietre Vive through students at Northwestern who have begun the first group in the United States. It seemed like a good opportunity to walk with a group of young adults who are serious about maturing in their faith. Since one of the main pillars of Pietre Vive is spiritual formation of its members, each group is required to have a spiritual assistant. I act in that capacity for the Chicago group. I attended the formation camp in order to learn more about the group and I certainly did that. The gathering consisted of more than 100 people, most of them young adults actively involved in Pietre Vive or hoping to start them. They came from Italy, France, Malta, Switzerland, Romania, Portugal, Chile, Spain, and Slovenia; including a few from one fledgling residential community in Rome. We prayed, visited churches, celebrated Mass, and attended workshops and lectures together. Since most of the young adults were sleeping on mats on the floor and the leaders were concerned about my jetlag, I, along with three other women, were hosted by a very generous Swiss/Guatemalan family about a mile away from the conference site. Although it was an exhausting three days, I am grateful to have spent the time with such a thoughtful and vibrant group of young adults who are committed to the Church and its future.

Armenia was somewhat of a different focus than my time in Zurich. I have been working with Project ArAGATS since 2002 and I usually live in a group doing faunal analysis while other archaeologists excavate. However, this year I lived alone in a rented apartment focusing on the animal bones and archaeological research analysis. I was able to catch up on nearly three years of... excavated faunal material; which wraps up many aspects of the excavations which began in 2001. This time, the quiet provided an opportunity for reflection not only on the conference, but the busy-ness that is my life most of the time.

What, one might ask, do these trips have to do with each other or with being Benedictine? As Benedictines, we often speak of the importance of being in community. These trips took me away from the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago for an extended period of time. Missing prayer, meals, and work among my Sisters is not something I take lightly; it is difficult for them and for me. For me, however, both of these experiences are a response to a call from God and both of them lead me closer to God. Through a deeper understanding of God’s people, they help me build community, not just among my Sisters, but in my other ministries.

Archaeology is something I’ve always wanted to do: I participated in my first archaeological excavation at seventeen and have been doing archaeology in one form or another for 30 years. Although I did not always think of it in these terms, I now consider archaeology to be part of my vocation. Through it, I have learned not only about the lives of people in the past, but the present life of the people among whom I work. The nearly 20 years I have spent working in Armenia allowed me to witness the development of a nation as it rebuilds after the collapse of the Soviet Union.

While walking with young adults as they discern their own vocation is something that has emerged only recently for me, it too feels like something I am called to do. I began walking with students at the Sheil Catholic Center at Northwestern University about two years ago--I see individual Catholic Scholars several times a quarter for spiritual direction and I direct RCIA. My work as community vocation director also gives me the opportunity to journey with young women as they discern their call and allows me to reach out to young adults (and younger children) to share my own journey into religious life and to spread Benedictine values and news about religious life today to people who may never encountered a religious sister before. The Pietre Vive formation camp this year brought me a clearer understanding of the need for young adults to encounter the church as more than simply a set of rules, to a way to build community, and a way to be of service and deepened my sense of call to journey with them as they mature in their own faith. Through discussions of church architecture, I also deepened my own understanding of the importance of liturgy in shaping the church.

All of these different experiences help me broaden my own understanding of community. Listening for and responding to these calls in my own life helps me to deepen my own understanding of God.

Over 200 friends and supporters gathered at the Park Ridge Country Club on June 12, 2019, as we hosted our 25th Annual Testimonial Dinner and Awards: A benefit for the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago. This year we honored members of our community who live out the value of Benedictine hospitality in response to immigrants: Fr. Corey Brost, CSV, Sister Benita Coffey, OSB, Sister Patricia Crowley, OSB, Br. Michael Gosch, CSV, Rachel Heuman, Sister Mary Melady, OSB, and Kathryn Smith Myers. Hundreds more participated by donating auction items, purchasing raffle tickets, sponsoring the event, placing ads in the program book, and countless other ways. Thank you to everyone who participated and helped us meet our budget this year. Through your continued support you have assisted us in meeting our expenses for our ongoing ministry and mission. We are truly grateful!

Other ways to Partner with us in Mission

Pray for the Benedictine Community
Please keep the Sisters, Oblates, Alumnae, and friends in your prayers. Your prayer support helps sustain us!

Become a Monthly Donor
Automatic monthly donations are an easy way to support the Sisters. To learn more about making donations directly from your checking account or credit card, please contact us.

Matching Gifts
Many employers sponsor matching gift programs that match, double, or even triple any charitable contributions that their employees make. Consider asking your Human Resources Department.

Donor-Advised Fund DAF
As a registered 501(c)(3) charity, the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago are legally able and truly grateful to accept your thoughtful donation through your Donor-Advised Fund.

IRA Charitable Rollover
A deeply appreciated donation and a major tax benefit all in one! If you are 70 ½ plus, you can make a transfer directly from your IRA to the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago. This gift will not only save you tax on the donation you transfer, but it also counts toward your required minimum distribution.

Appreciated Stock
Your kindness through the donation of Stock will not only help support the Sisters, but may also lower your Capital Gains Taxes.

Memorial Gifts
Families may choose to name the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago as their preferred recipient for a memorial tribute, instead of flowers. Pre-printed envelopes are available for use at the funeral home.

Memorial Card
At your request, a lovely card can be sent to the bereaved, expressing your sympathy and notifying them that a donation was made in memory of their loved one.

Celebration or In Honor of Someone Special
A thoughtful gift for the person who has everything; a donation in their honor to the Sisters. Or, you may consider stating, “In lieu of gifts, a donation to the Benedictine Sisters of Chicago may be made”. An acknowledgment card on your behalf will be sent to the honoree.

Of course all donors, deceased loved ones, and honorees will be listed in Sacro-Speco and remembered daily in the Sisters’ prayers.
